centre is bucking the trend

RETAIL bosses in Cannock say only one town centre shopping unit is vacant despite an overall rise in the number of empty shops in the town.

The rate of vacant shops

The rate of vacant shops has increased over the past 12 months, up by 2.9 per cent to 15.3 per cent. Figures from the Local Data Company also revealed Stafford town centre has a 15.7 per cent vacancy rate – 1.9 per cent higher than the previous vear – and Lich-1.5 per cent ingier than the previous year – and Lichfield's is 10.9 per cent, 0.7 per cent less than 2011. However, Cannock Shopping Centre said it was bucking the trend.

RAT-RUN LORR RK CONCE

SHOPKEEPERS and residents in Hednesford are furious about lorries using their roads as a dangerous rat-run.

They claim heavy goods vehicles are using Eskrett Street and Market Street as a short cut to the centre of town, often getting stuck in the narrow streets.

Councillor Linda Whitehouse, the owner of Whitehouse Property in Market Street said the HGVs were causing tailbacks, hundreds of pounds of damage to buildings and putting pedestrians' lives at risk.

The Rawnsley ward district councillor said she had recorded a councillor said she had recorded a number of near misses with people and shops. She said the situation was made worse by motorists parking on double yellow lines at the end of Eskrett Street.

Accident

She said: "This has been going She said: "This has been going on for quite a while now but it only seems to be getting worse. This should not be allowed to continue to happen on a daily basis. "The shop on the corner has been hit a number of times and there is a concern about safety. It will be too late by the time there is a fatal accident.

"I would like to see a weight restriction on the road that will stop lorries coming down it."

Councillor Whitehouse said that

BEST OF PETER RHODES

YES, I know there's a lot of it about. Throat full of razor blades, head full of snot and your voice suddenly dropping an octave. For men, there is one advantage of this chesty winter malady. At last we can all do a good impression of Lee Marvin's basso-profundo hit from Paint Your Wagon. All together now: I was born under a wandrin' star.

THE wrong sort of snow brought down an oak tree which in turn brought down all the phone lines in our neighbourhood. As I reported earlier, BT said on Monday it would be fixed in 48 hours. Fat chance. The engineer tells me it could have been sorted earlier but he had to wait for the man who decides whether telegraph poles are safe to climb. No surprises there, then.

TRYING to get our calls diverted was enough to make you tear your hair out. It involved the inevitable conversation with a call centre in India. When these call centres first opened I used to chat for ages with operators in Benares or Bangalore about where they were and where I was and how's the weather your end and who'd you fancy for the First Test? But over the years the fluent English speakers seem to have moved on. Call me paranoid but I suspect when I call up these days, the supervisor cups his hand over the phone and says to his team: "Rhodes on the line again. Anyone here not speak English?"

SO FAREWELL, Pope Benedict. Purely by chance we were in Italy when he became Pope in 2005. As we flipped between CNN and BBC in our hotel room, there was some confusion about events in the Vatican. Yet while CNN and the BBC dithered, all the church bells in Riva del Garda began ringing. Somehow, the people knew they had a new Pope and the sound of those bells echoing joyously over Lake Garda is a memory to treasure. 00000000

IN A week when we are thinking hard about the stuff we eat, my local off-licence is offering expert advice on choosing the right wines to go with your dinner menu. I am torn between Marelot and Chardonneigh.

ONE of the most depressing reports this week is the news that Britain does not have enough skilled IT technicians to make the internet secure. Because our universtities are turning out the wrong sort of graduates, using the worldwide web will become increasingly risky. But while we are short of cyber experts, we are knee deep in video-technique, leisure-planning and media-studies graduates who have no jobs, no hope and 240,000 of university debt. At the heart of this imbalance of talent is the old snobbery among English academics for anything that involves using your hands or, heaven forbid, wearing a boiler suit. Wickedly misled by useless careers advisers, bright kids who could make a great living working with widgets waste three years of their lives faffing around with video cameras in the belief that they will be the next Matt Baker. Meanwhile, plumbers (if you can get one) charge £60 per hour.

AND off to the nurse for the annual blood-pressure test and analysis of my latest blood sample. Everything seems boringly normal but I suspect 20 years from now we will look back on this ritual examination of our gore in much the way that today's doctors look sities are turning out the wrong sort of graduates, using

I was later advised that the area had been surveyed, arrangements were in hand to refresh the markings and the work done within weeks. Some three or four months have elapsed with still no sign of the work being carried out. In my opinion, this area has been a nightmare for drivers since its completion. There is often evidence of minor collisions but many are not reported so do not become a 'statistic'—the area is not then considered to be a blackspot. The erosion of the markings has made driving around there even worse and I feel the issue should be addressed before a more serious accident occurs.

I WOULD like to thank the person, a very kind gentleman, who returned my lost purse on Friday, February 8. When I got home to find the purse there was a great and wonderful surprise. Thank you once again.

It is not wise to mention people individually, as someone always gets left off the list. Suffice to say that everyone I encountered within every department at Cannock Hospital acted impeccably. Nothing was too much trouble and any worries, problems or concerns were dealt with swiftly, patiently and very professionally.

Deaths a result of targets before care

I WAS glad to see Councillor John Kraujalis finally admit that he does have concerns for the future of Cannock Hospital (Letters, February 7), despite stating the previous week he was "bewildered" by my efforts to save it.

Sadly his selective memory is in evidence. He pledges to "fight hard to keep our hospital open within the NHS" before misleading readers by falsely asserting that my ideas are "an attempt to privatise the hospital by the back door".

Labour politicians should ston playing politics with our Labour politicians should stop playing politics with our local hospital and remember it was on their watch during 2005-2009 that targets were put before care and patients needlessly died.

Workers feel tarred by the same brush

I WOULD like to say a huge thank you to Mr Y V K Ra and Mr Chaudrey, together with their theatre and Ward 6 teams, for my time spent in their care in January.

Hopefully, this will go a little way to put a positive message about the staff of Stafford Hospital.

Now the long-awaited report into the many wrongdoings has been made public spare a thought for the current staff.

Diamond day for Valentine's wedding couple

A COUPLE who tied the knot 60 years ago on Valentine's Day celebrated their diamond anniversary.

Joe and Vera Denny from Hednesford chose to get married on February 14, 1952 to be extra romantic.

The pair who live in Eskrett Street first set eyes on each other at the town's former Drill Hall. But it was on separate holidays at the same time in Blackpool when they met property and romance blossomed erly and romance blossomed.
The couple, both aged 81, got married at Our Lady of Lourdes Church Mr Denny was a miner for 12 years, before delivering bread full-time and finishing his career as an insurance agent. Mrs Denny worked at J.A.Crabtree in Walsall and also at Thorn Automation in Rugeley. She is currently chairman of Hednesford Ex-Servicemen's Club. The Dennys have a daughter, two grandchildren, a great-granddaughter and a great-grandson on the way in April. Mrs Denny said: "We have always worked on things together and have been honest with one another."

FEBRUARY'S was a smaller

FEBRUARY'S was a smaller meeting than usual, probably due to the weather forecast. The evening remained clear but cold and the speaker arrived without mishap.

Graham Massey called his talk "The real reason our houses are haunted". He proceeded to tell of strange happenings in this country and Staffordshire in particular, where many unexplained sightings have been recorded. One such event apparently takes place at a pub near Hatherton, where ghostly apparitions have been seen from time to time. At Shugborough Hall some years ago, a house-keeper whose child was sick and confined to bed, saw a ghostly figure of a lady in a long flowing dress leaning over the child's bed. Perhaps this woman had lost a child years ago and was unable to rest? However, Graham had his own reasons to explain his own reasons to explain these ghosts or spirits. He gave an example of a family with two children whose mother had died at an early age. The widower then met and married a much younger lady with a child of her own. When she died, everything was left to her own offspring and nothing to the stepchildren. Graham said perhaps such injustice causes the dead spirit to rebel. He gave the ladies much to think about.

Cannock Chase District Council took Kenneth Mould to court over the state of his home in Swallow Close after he failed to comply to a Town and Country Planning notice.

The council ruled the land and properry was visually detrimental to neigh-bouring properties and to the overall appearance of the local street scene. The council served a Section 215 Notice on the homeowner which speci-fied the work that needed doing to improve its appearance. Court proto comply and the matter came before Stafford magistrates.

Mould, aged 61, lives in the house with his partner. He was fined a maximum £1,000 with costs of £200 and a victim surcharge of £100.

Hidden

Residents in the cul-de-sac have been complaining for around three years about the state of their neighbour's house and garden.

The building, including the roof and first-floor windows, is hidden under a thick covering of ivy while the front garden is dominated by several large coniferous trees. Planning officer

Mazer Aqbal said Mould had been ordered to get rid of the ivy from the front of the property, to remove all vegetation from his garage roof and to clear the front lawn.

"Basically he has been told to make it look how you would expect a house to look — at the moment you can't tell whether you're looking at the front or the back of the building."

Councillor Gordon Alcott, economic development and planning leader, said:

Councillor Gordon Alcott, economic development and planning leader, said: "The council is committed to ensuring properties do not have a detrimental impact on neighbouring amenities and the wider area. "Cases like this will not be tolerated," he added.

Star Ellie takes reins at riding school

Ellie Simmonds poses for pictures with some of the riders at the Gartmore Riding School in Hammerwich

Paralympic swimmer Ellie Simmonds on a visit the Gartmore Riding School, Hammerwich, with horse Gypsy and volunteer Tracey Pinfold

Youngsters were giving "taster" riding sessions during the afternoon

PARALYMPIC gold medallist Ellie Simmonds chairs and others with autism and cerebral palsy, took part presented rosettes and prizes to youngsters at a Burntwood riding school.

The swimming star from Aldridge visited Gartmore Riding School in Hammerwich on Saturday (February 16). Ellie also officially opened the school's new seating area where children can gather for tutorials and watch other riders.

The event was funded by Staffordshire County Council as part of its Aiming High activities for disabled children and their families. Up to 70 youngsters attended, some in wheelchairs and others with autism and cerebral palsy, took part in horse riding, lectures and grooming. They were also given the chance to try out a riding simulator. Among the schools represented were Hednesford Valley High.

Ellie, aged 18, said: "It's so wonderful here. I wanted to be a horse rider when I was younger, so this has been really great. The scheme here is fantastic – enabling disabled people to learn how to do all these different things is really great. The facilities are amazing."

Owner of the riding school Tracy Francis said the day was intended to encourage more young people to take part in sport and volunteering.

Jobs boost as firm doubles turnover

Steve Huckfield, Managing Director at AER Stafford, Bellsize Close, Norton Cane

A NORTON Canes business specialising in producing noise-reducing components for the automotive sector is set to take on 20 new staff in the next year.

Steve Huckfield, managing director at AER Stafford in Bellsize Close, said the AER Statiford in Belisize Close, said the company had seen a major turnaround in the last four years and was planning to invest around £Im on new equipment over the next 12 months.

It was bought out of administration in February 2009 by the Bristol-based Avon

Group. Since then the workforce has increased from 25 to 115 and turnover has doubled in the last the last three years. A further 20 jobs are in the pipeline with

A further 20 Joos are in the pipeline with the total employed expected to have grown by around 15 per cent in 2012-2013. "We are now looking for new engineers, sales, administration staff as well as shop floor operatives," Mr Huckfield said.

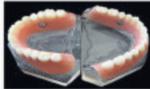

The company began as Stafford Rubber Company in 1975 and changed its name after becoming part of the Avon Group. Its main customers are Jaguar Land Rover, but it is also working with Honda and Nissan.

Making the transformation and providing a cost-effective solution for upper and lower denture stability, the Ultra Suction prosthetics use a clever diaphram system to help provide wearers with greater dental security velopment to help restability solve the problems faced by thousands of denture wearers is being offered by the Denture Clinic

Denturist Steven Burchell Dip CDT RCS(Eng), who heads the teams at his North Street practice in Dudley and other clinics in Wolverhampton and Bearwood. says the invention has the poten-tial to resolve issues with the poor stabilisation of dentures.

Prosthetics are held in place by tiny valve-operated suction de-vices which are built into the prescription. A clever diaphrams principle, triggered by the bite pressure on patients' gums, creates a 'sucking' vacuum between the soft-tissue mouth lining and the prosthetic.

Mr Burchell, whose clinics attracts patients from as far as Spain, the Isle of Skye and the Isle of Anglesey, adds: "The denpace. In recent times we have seen what I can describe only as strident steps forward with im-plant-retained dentures coming into main-stream dentistry, clevel technology which allows excellent fitting outcomes and now the Ultra Suction product.

"Implant dentistry is not suitable for everyone, neither is it all patients' first preference.

'Toolbox'

"The beauty of this technology is that it can offer for the right patient excellent denture retainer qualities without the complex clinical procedures required for implant work.

"We have always endeavoured to be on the very cusp of clinical development and this is another tool in our commitment to always try to deliver results which are greater than patient expectations."

jaw bone erodes with age. With traditional dentures this can cause lower teeth to move and create painful friction problems on Mr Burchell adds: "The device can be mounted on upper or lower palates and because of its efficiency allows us to consider a reduction in the size of the acrylic 'plate' which can result in im-proved speech and taste.

"The Ultra Suction kit increases the options in our clinical 'toolbox' and can provide affordable solu-tions to many patients who would not wish to pursue the stability resolve with implants.

"I remain passionate about the transformations good prosthetics can achieve."

Typically, patients will be en-couraged to contribute their views to treatment plans and generally be assigned more than three-and a-half clinical hours in achieving the best possible outcome.

Betty is free from pain after having implants

A WOMAN who had suffered years of pain with two jaw conditions has finally found relief after undergoing dental implant sur-

Betty had worn dentures for many years but developed neuralgia and her trigemi-nal nerve had become inflamed.

"I had terrible jaw pain and suffered pins and needles in the side of my head and tongue. It's a terrible condition. I'd had an MRI scan and had seen a specialist, but was still without relief," she says

Clinical dental technician Mr Burchell had made dentures for Betty seven years ago and she returned to his clinic to inquire about a new prescription because the lower denture had lost its stability.

"I had put up with the floating effect of my lower denture and needed to address the problem. My lower gum had receded so much my denture was pressing down on a nerve and causing me pain," she

"Steven explained the benefits of implant-retained dentures and told me it would allow my bite to be opened some more. Since having the implants on my lower denture. I have experienced no

Mr Burchell said all dentures have a shelf life and Betty's denture problem was due to shrinkage of her gums - a naturally occurring aging process.

"We hoped for an improved outcome on her condition, but never dreamed that the final clinical result could be so rewarding with Betty being free from pain," he adds.

Charity in plea to find a loving home for dogs

AN animal charity in Hugeley is urgently seeking owners for a number of dogs in its possession.

Rugeley Welfare for Dogs is trying to find homes for 12 animals, including Jack Russell terrier Riley, who is aged between two and three. He would be ideally placed in a family home with older children.

Also in its possession is another Jack Russell who was furned as a stray.

Also in its possession is another Jack Russell who was found as a stray. The charity was set up by Ruth Dewis and Pauline Roberts, both of whom work at Armitage Shanks. It works on behalf of Swanpit Boarding Kennels & Cattery, in Gnosall, near Stafford.

Ms Roberts, aged 59, said: "They need a lot of love and attention. We are hoping someone will come forward."

She said the charity had already found homes for eight dogs this year, adding: "Our running total is usually about 50 or 60 a year."

Fantastic

Among the other dogs in need of homes

Among the other dogs in need of homes are a four-year-old boxer cross, a cross greyhound aged between two and three years old and Staffordshire bull terriers.

Ms Roberts said: "When you say 'Staffie' to some people they say 'oh no', but they are fantastic dogs. The myth is out there that they are dangerous and it needs to be dispelled."

Ms Roberts and Ms Dewis met at work six years ago and began organising fundraising events for Swanpit. They are appealing for anyone with fundraising ideas to get in touch with either Ruth on 07900 090993 or Pauline on 07971 817877.

Charity launches sensory room bid

Sean Felton, whose Abducted Angels is raising money to turn a junk room at Jungle Joe's into a sensory room

A CHILDREN'S charity in Cannock is appealing for donations to develop a sensory room at a play centre.

Abducted Angels will use the facility to provide day care for youngsters with special needs and for weekend film screenings.

The charity offers support to parents whose children have been abducted. It was launched by Sean Felton, who travelled to Thailand to rescue his three-year-old son Jobe. Mr CHASETOWN FC's plans to build a £1 million stand at its Scholars Ground have been shelved because of the tough economic climate.

The club, relegated last season into the Northern Premier League Division One South, had previously been given permission to build a 500-seat stand, club shop, changing rooms and offices. But chief executive Mike Joiner said the project would not be going ahead at the present time. He said: "We've spent £100,000 on this project already over the past four or five years. The plans will be shelved for a period of time." Mr Joiner, who has been involved with the club for 50 years, said Chase-town was not keen to borrow money from the bank. It secured three lots of from the balls. It secured there lots of funding from various sources but Mr Joiner said there was of shortfall of around 20 per cent of the total cost of the project.

"We are not a club that wants to go bankrupt," he said. "It's about common sense and because we got relegated we do not need the racinly currently. I cannot see any upturn in the economy in two or three years."

Mr Joiner said the plans could be resurrected in the future and another application submitted.

Store raiders sentenced to four-year prison term

The pair first struck at the Co-Op in Penkridge but after being able to open a cigarette cabinet they fled with an empty cash arette cabinet they fled with an empty cash drawer and some postage stamps.

They made off in a stolen BMW and within an hour, at 5am, they were using a paving slab to break through the front door of McColl's in Bentley, Walsall. The duty manageress Kim Smedley was knocked to the floor by one of the raiders Stephen Keats, Stafford Crown Court heard.

The other raider, Patrick Rafferty started stuffing cigarettes into a wheelie bin and then marched her into the rear office demanding to know where the safe was. After being told it was on a timer, he opened the cigarette cabinet and passed more packets to Keats. They again made off in the stolen BMW.

Handling

Keats, aged 24, of Woden Road, Heath Town, and Rafferty, also 24, of no fixed address, both admitted charges of robbery and conspiracy to burgle. Keats also admitted handling the stolen BMW.

The stolen BMW was found in a police swoop on a house in Pendeford, following a tip-off from neighbours, only hours after the shop raids on October 2 last year.

Rafferty was found hiding in a child's bed at the home of Lee Potts in Wayside and Keats was in the kitchen, along with three bins full of cigarettes. A fourth suspect, Amanpreet Hayre, was arrested on the sofa. Hayre, 26, of Prestwood Road, Wednesfield, and Potts, 28, of Wayside, Pendeford, both admitted a charge of handling stolen goods.

Go on a journey to discover your 'self'

ARTIST Deborah Ravetz has been invited to take parishioners in Rugeley and Brereton on a journey of discovery entitled 'becoming a self'.

Her presentation involves portraits in images and words to help people discover who we are in relation to those around us. It takes place at St Augustine's church hall, from 3pm on Sunday, March 17, with a break for a 'bring and share' tea and concluding with an Act of Worship at 6pm.

Curate Kevin Billson said: "It will be a time of reflection, entirely appropriate for Lent, that will help us deepen our self-awareness."

Superstore puts in bid for extra parking spaces

A FURTHER 18 parking spaces could be created at Cannock's Asda supermarket. The Avon Road store's car park currently provides 414 spaces, including 20 for dis-abled drivers, 20 parent and children spots and seven trolley shelters. Under the new plans, a further 18 standard spaces would be created.

Asda claims the proposals will not adversely affect the visual impact of the area, and states access will still be maintained to the store and car park during opening hours.

Store spokesman Andrew Devoy said: "We know that convenient parking is one of our customers' top priorities, so we have applied to improve the car park at our Cannock store."

fix of a game that lasts only four minutes – dodgeball.

Made famous in this country by Ben Stiller's film of the same name, dodgeball is a fast paced game that requires brain as well as brawn as balls fly back and forth down the pitch, hitting players, bouncing off walls and occasionally being carefully dodged.

With the words of the film's antihero Patches O'Houlihan, "Dodge, duck, dip, dive and dodge" ringing heavy in my ears, I entered a practice session with the Walsall Warriors, one of the first teams in the Black Country's, to find out about the sport.

The Warriors were set up three months ago by 50-year-old Glynn Marston, from Walsall, a man known more for his long distance runs than his love of dodgeball.

After retiring from running seven years ago due to a knee injury he grew tired of doing nothing.

He said: "We have had a lot of interest but some people still see it as an aggressive game.

Among performers preparing for curtain-up on the musical is Sophie Bould, a former member of South Staffs Musical Theatre Company who is now a professional actor. The former pupil of St Dominic's School, in Brewood, previously wowed West End audiences playing Liesl in The Sound of Music after first walking the boards at the Grand. Now aged 31, she said: "I was eight when the theatre company were performing South Pacific and they needed a youngster to play a little French girl. My mum Veronica was with the company. I was at the Grand Theatre for a week and I was bitten by the bug."

Casualty BBC1. 8.40pm

Last week we met estranged couple David and Kate. When we catch up with them here, he struggles to keep his temper in check after their son Nathan is rushed to the ED after collapsing while on a day out with Kate. The fact that Kate then announces she wants access to their son, coupled with bad news about the youngster's future treatment, stuns David so much, he decides to do something very foolish indeed. Meanwhile, Zoe returns, goes berserk at Ash and then offers him a permanent job. Also starring Patrick Robinson.

Pick of the Week

The boys are back with their winning formula

Bruce Forsyth has earned the title King of Saturday Night Telly after all, het been hooking top-rated programmes at that time of the week for more than 50 years. He's been an entertainer guaranteed to raise a smile since before many of us, and even our parents, were born thanks to hits such as The Generation Game, Big Night and, of course, his current smash Strictly Come Dancing.

A few presenters have attempted to steal his crown, including Noel Edmonds, but they've fallen by the wayside. However, there is one duo out there that you suspect will take it one day — Ant and Dec.

Not only are they extremely good at presenting the same kind of shows as Brucie, they're excellent hosts in their own right with the kind of chemistry and charm money can't buy.

Those are facts ITV's schedulers have clearly realised because they've made Ant and Dec almost omnipresent – it sometimes feels as if barely five minutes goes by before they're back on the box.

And yes, we like them as much as the next TV expert, but we reckon we could live for at least a week without them popping up looking unnaturally chirpy.

However, we don't have to test that theory because, lo and behold, the Geordie duo are back on the box.

Geordie duo are back on the box.

Those of us who grew up watching Byker Grove could never have imagined that one day, these two,
then better known as PJ and Duncan, would go on to become arguably the most popular double act on British TV.

Ant and Dec were always charismatic and, in their own way, quite cute, but it seems they have that extra-special, oh-so-difficult-to-define something that has allowed them to stand head and shoulders above the crowd – despite their diminutive height.

But not everything they've touched has turned to gold. The second series of Red or Black never broke four million viewers. So what should ultrasuccessful TV presenters do following a flop?

That's right, go back to an old favourite, a surefire hit. And that, it

Night Takeaway.

The last series was broadcast in 2010, but we're pleased to note that nothing seems to have changed in the intervening years – after all, why change a winning formula?

So, expect to see members of the public trying to win the items featured in the ad break, as well as star performers in action.

Robbie Williams is the first A-lister to appear. He will be providing a musical interfude as well as a surprise for one lucky member of the viewing public. While, Hollywood star Danny DeVito steps into the voiceover booth in the first edition.

Although the star guests are a welcome sight, it's the competitions that make this show so watchable – and although they could be accused of suffering from over-exposure, we're looking forward to seeing them again

Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Takeaway, Saturday, ITV, 7pm

Best of the Rest

Penguins – Spy in the Huddle

BBC1, 9pm
Thanks to this fascinating series, we now know our emperors from our Humboldts, but could you identify individual birds? It seems it's a big ask even for penguin parents as the last episode in the series looks at the challenges faced by the young of the species. The emperor chicks keep together in a huddle and it's up to the adults to check they are feeding the right child. Meanwhile, the Humboldts are left in burrows, which may sound cosy, but they are still at risk from vampire bats. Luckily for wiewers, it's not all death and trauma – there's also footage of the emperors learning to skate, and the rockhoppers practising their jumping skills.

Black Mirror

show, teaches youngsters about the world through interviews with politicians and establishment figures. However, the animated protagonist is actually an anarchic animated character on a satirical late-night topical comedy show, voiced and controlled by failed comedian Jamie Salter (Daniel Rigby). He inleashes a mix of humorous innuendo, sarcasm and childish vitriol once he has lured someone into the studio. With a Waldo pilot in the offing, the animated character is soon standing against one of his victims, Conservative Liam Monroe (Tobias Menzies). Romance and a viral internet clip are thrown into the mix for Charlie Brooker's cross between 2012 smash Ted, and Robert Redford's 1972 drama The Candidate.

Shameless Channel 4, 10pm

All good things must come to an end, and this week sees the arrival of the final series of Channel 4's hit comedy drama. The Maguires' empire seems to be doing well. While Mimi (Tina Malone) hijacks the local school via the PTA. Shane (Nicky Evans) is busy getting a new business venture off the ground. However, just as the rogue clan think things are going well, Jamie's (Aaron McCusker) shock discovery leads to him withdrawing from the family firm. Meanwhile. Frank's latest job as a caretaker helps fund his latest leisure activity involving Sherrilee (Sarah Totty) and Derrilee (Sue Vincent), a prostitute double act dubbed the Gastric Bandits.

BBC1, 10.35pm Thanks to research and human ingenuity, medical science never ceases to amaze. Recently there has been the first bionic eye and face transplants – a case of science fiction becoming science fact. But the latest headline making procedure is a hand transplant, which happened in Leeds in December. This documentary follows Professor Simon Kay and his team from making the initial decision to carry it out, through to the first time that 51-year-old Mark Cahill sees his new hand.

wednesday Child of Our Time

BBC1, 9pm
There were rumours that this fascinating insight into child development might not be returning to our screens – thankfully, they have proved unfounded. So Dr Robert Winston is back for a two-part run. This time the youngsters are 12, so since we last saw them they have started at secondary school and have begun to suffer some of the trials and tribulations involved in teenage life. The concluding part will be broadcast tomorrow.

and features an insight into the children's family changes, parental expectations and what perils they may face before we meet them again in a few years' time.

Thursday The Schoolboy Assassin: Murder Files

Channel 5, 8pm
For over a decade, Michael Ross was regarded as a hero thanks to his Iraq war service. But, in 2008. he was convicted of murdering Orkney-based waiter Shamsuddin Mahmood during an unprovoked attack in June 1994. Although a suspect almost from the start of the investigation, the only evidence at the police's disposal was circumstantial, and it wasn't until 2006 when a witness finally came forward that Ross was eventually convicted of the crime. This fascinating documentary charts events from the murder to his attempts to appeal in 2012.

Friday

Mary and Martha

BBC1, 8.30pm

Not content with being the man who gave us Blackadder, Four Weddings and a Funeral, and Love Actually, writer and director Richard Curtis also co-founded Comic Relief, and this year he's making a very special contribution in the form of this one-off drama. Granted, on paper Mary and Martha doesn't sound particularly funny, but it is a reminder of why Comic Relief exists and the causes it raises money for, Double-Oscar winner Hilary Swank stars as Mary, an American woman who meets the English Martha (Brenda Blethyn) in a remote corner of Mozambique. Despite their very different backgrounds, the women discover they are bonded by a common tragedy.

ers Morgan's Life Stories: Lorraine Kelly ITV, 9pm

Lorraine Kelly has been grilling celebrities and Dolliticians for almost three decades, and has attracted no end of red-blooded admirers in the process, including JLS star Marvin Humes, who labelled her a cougar. In this show, she's responds to assorted personal questions, such as how she to assorted personal questions, such as how an effect about being seen as a sex symbol. She also talks about how she was sacked from GMTV, weeks after giving birth to her daughter.

^{GP}BIGWOOD® Brits come clean on state of their homes AUCTION

their home is a 'pigsty' be-cause they are just too busy to clean, according a new Researchers have found that seven in 10 of us are unable to find the time to take care of everyday chores such as vacuuming, dusting and cleaning the bathroom.

Fifty-seven per cent of people even admitted they have times when they would describe their home as a 'pigsty' because they never have a chance to tidy it up.

More than one in five have even

More than one in five have even refused to let people into their home because it was in such a mess.

A spokesperson for cleaning product firm Spontex, which commissioned the research, said: "We are leading busier lives than ever and when you are juggling so much, it's inevitable that something has to give.

Chunks

"And it seems that for many, staying on top of their household chores and keeping their home spotless is what they are letting fall by the wayside.
"But this means that many Brits aren't happy with the state of the home, and it's alarming to see that so many even have times when they would describe their home as being like a pirsty.

would describe their home as being like a pigsty.

"Cleaning can be done in small chunks which makes it much more manageable to fit everything in and around your everyday life.

"If you are struggling to fit the chores in, rather than doing a big clean once in a while, running the vacuum round one day and then cleaning the bathrooms the next can make life a lot easier."

easier.''
The study of 2,000 people found that the past months?

63 per cent do not think their home is as clean as they would like it to be, with half of those blaming this on being too busy to clean.

Another 39 per cent simply do not like cleaning while 21 per cent do not think they are very good at it.

And almost a quarter say they have got better things to do than worry about the state of their house.

Forty-two per cent have never cleaned their home from top to bottom, and, even those who have admit it was an average of almost five months since they last did this.

More than one in 10 owned up to not cleaning their bathroom for at least a month nor having done any ironing for a year.

One in 20 had not washed clothes

One in 20 had not washed clothes and one in 10 had not got the vacuum out for a month or more.

Almost one in 10 had not used a duster for at least six months, while one in 20 admitted it had been at least a year since mopping a floors.

More than one in 20 owned up to never cleaning their windows.

And 60 per cent did not think they will ever have a snotless home.

will ever have a spotless home.
Researchers also revealed that a third of people's homes are such a mess, that visitors or friends have commented on the state of it.

Clutter

And more than half have rowed with their other half about the mess. It also emerged that 73 per cent of people regularly shove things under cushions or behind sofas so any clutter is out of sight when someone pops in. While 60 per cent have shut doors to certain rooms so guests cannot see the mess. Despite this, 90 per cent claim they consider themselves to be a tidy person.

The Spontex spokesperson added:
"Our advice is to do a few, small tasks daily or several times a week rather than try and spend a whole day just cleaning.
"This will keep your home in top condition with minimal effort and give you the satisfaction of completing your

"Many people feel a real sense of ful-filment and more in control of their lives when they are on top of jobs round the house."

Two new super models from SEAT

To prove that SEAT really is in touch with what its customers want, the company has introduced the Mii and Ibiza Toca editions. And for the new reg customers can get a great deal.

Toca is the Spanish word for 'touch', giving a fairly obvious clue as to the particular bonus that buyers get when choosing one of these new models. Yes, it's a touch screen. Specifically, Toca models come with the very useful SEAT Portable System, first introduced to the SEAT range with the Mii city car.

The Mii Toca is based on the 1.0 60 PS SE version, and adds the SEAT Portable System and rear parking sensors – both especially useful in the car's natural environment, the busy city streets.

At full retail price, the additional outlay for the Mii Toca edition over the SE is a modest £475 – great value when these options individually would require an £805 spend.

In the Ibiza Toca, buyers get a set of 16-inch 'Stratos' alloy wheels (up from 15 inches) along with the SEAT Portable System, for a £425 premium over the SE car on which it's based.

The Mii Toca, like the Ibiza, comes loaded with equipment including air con

The Toca editions are available to order now, with first cars expected to hit the road during early February – and customers buying either the Mii or Ibiza Toca before April will enjoy huge discounts.

That's because until the end of March 2013 the Mii Toca is reduced by £850, putting the three-door model at an attractive £8,995, while the Ibiza Toca editions all receive a £2,705 cut, leaving the three-door (SC) model with an outstanding £9,995 price.

Air conditioning

Every Toca edition is loaded with equipment, including air conditioning, a leather steering wheel and gear knob, heated and electrically adjustable door mirrors, electric front windows, electronic stability control (ESC), central locking, and front fog lights with cornering function (Ibiza Toca

Navigation
The SEAT Portable System packs a deluge of digital driver aids into a lightweight package not much bigger than a cassette box. It includes satellite navigation, Bluetooth phone connectivity with audio streaming, a MicroSD card slot for music storage, and trip computer functions, all controlled via a foolproof interface on a five-inch touchscreen.
"The Diza Toca is another example of SEAT giving great value to buyers by providing cutting-edge equipment at a very reasonable price," said Simon Bradley, product manager at SEAT UK.
"The SE specification is very popular among current Ibiza owners, which is no surprise given the amount of comfort, safety and convenience equipment it has as standard. But we really want as many as possible to have access to the remarkable SEAT Portable System. By bringing big car technology to the city car and supermini classes, the device really has moved the game forward." he added.

The SEAT Portable System is, from this month, available as an optional extra on all Ibiza models, superseding the TomTom unit previously available. The system is capable of having additional functionality added by way of software upgrades, and will shortly be updated to include internet search functionality. Existing SEAT Portable System owners will be able to access these additional features these additional features AA president Edmund King said: "It is alarming to think so many drivers out there think there is at least one aspect of driving that they would struggle to do to the standard required to pass a driving test.

"Being able to manoeuvre correctly, making proper observations and keeping a safe distance and speed are all very important parts of driving safely."

He added: "Driving is a skill for life and, although it is easy to let bad habits form after your test, drivers should make sure their skills are kept polished."

Mercedes E-Class to benefit from more equipment

THE new Mercedes E-Class will have much more equipment via a revised model line and only modest price increases, the firm has Confirmed.

SE, Avantgarde and Sport are to be replaced with a simpler two-model range consisting of SE and AMG Sport. Both will have more standard equipment than the SE and Sport models they replace.

SE cars will have larger alloy wheels, a new grille bearing the relocated three-pointed star, partial LED headlights, DAB radio, COMAND Online, Active Park Assist with Parktronic, Collision Prevention Assist, twin exhaust pipes and more, totalling more than £4,000 of extras for a cost increase of £2,280.

Upholstery

AMG Sport models feature a price hike of £575 over the equivalent outgoing Sport, but feature almost £3,000 worth of additional equipment, according to Mercedes. It gets upgraded alloys of the same 18 inches as before, the new grille, revised upholstery, COMAND Online, DAB radio and Collision Prevention Assist.

Three diesels will be available across both models, including the E 220 CDI, 250 CDI and 300 BlueTec Hybrid, while the AMG Sport can also be fitted with an E 350 BlueTec. Two petrol engines, the E 200 and 250 are there as well, albeit the E 200 is for the saloon only.

Prices will start from £32,400 for the manual E 220 CDI SE saloon and from £33,980 for the automatic-only E 200 SE saloon.

The mainstream part of the range tops out at £43,815 for the E 300 BlueTee Hybrid AMG Sport Estate, with the cheapest AMG variant priced at £73,720.

Deliveries are to start in April, one month after the '13' number plate is introduced.

Supermini from Audi really is a class act

By Matt Joy

IT'S been just as hard as I had imagined. On the day the A1 was due to go back I treated it to its most expensive clean yet, a positively decadent £35 mini-valet.

As I watched the layers of grime being removed and the brilliant white shine coming through, I knew I was going to miss it – and they say modern cars are lacking in character or personality.

I don't believe a word of it.

In less than six months the A1 covered almost 13,000 miles with me at the wheel, more than the average car covers in a whole year.

That's indicative of the hard life it led – it was never abused, of course, but it had to get on with the job, and most of the miles tended to be long distance motorway hacks or cross-country dashes rather than a quick trundle to the

But that is the mark of the modern supermini, particularly a premium one like the A1.

Now we want our small hatches to be capable of everything, especially when we're forking out the best part of £20,000 for one. But they have risen to the challenge, and despite its size the AI proved to be as capable as something much larger and more expensive.

For starters, the A1 still has all the small-car nippiness that makes it the ideal tool for getting around the city; especially so in S tronic form, where the opportunity to let your left leg relax is priceless.

The 1.4-litre turbocharged engine has a nice band of instant torque low down so you can get ahead off the lights, and conversely the stop/start helps you save fuel when you're going nowhere.

If you have a sensitive behind you might want an SE version over the Sport which has slightly stiffer suspension, but it's merely more communicative of road imperfections rather than being disturbed by them.

Cruising

Get out of town and the long seventh gear gives fuss-free cruising, and chance to enjoy the cabin.

So well made and attractive is the interior of the A1 that

I genuinely couldn't have wished for anything more – bar cruise control and heated seats, which I could have easily got off the options list if I'd thought more carefully about it.

The MMI infotainment system worked extremely well, the MMI moraliment system worked extremely well, with its clear display, easy main controller and shortcut buttons. Within days I was navigating my way around it without even having to look.

The sat-nav worked flawlessly and the option of three routes and an ability to recalculate quickly if I chose to increase it was always and some of the contract of the contra ignore it was always welcome.

The audio system was loud and clear and made browsing through the tracks on a well-known brand of phone and MP3 player a piece of cake.

Space-wise the A1 never came up short even when it was asked to carry more than was realistic.

Try two small children in car seats, two single duvets, two

If y two similar influent in Carseaus, two single duvets, two pillows, a large suitcase, a bed guard (essentially an awk-wardly-shaped unfoldable contraption the size of a parcel shelf) and two big squishy bags.

Perhaps most importantly the A1 always delivered a healthy slice of the feel-good factor, which is arguably the main reason you'd choose one over a cheaper non-premium rival Say what you like about the Audi brand but you know what you're going to get: a high quality, desirable product that feels like a choice rather than a compromise.

The other side of that is also that the A1 will remain desirable even when it comes to sell-up ti a packet to run, and the service you get at the dealers is the same as if you roll up in an R8- and Audi dealers tend to be some of the plushest and most comfortable in the business.

The A1 is not only a useful and fuss-free supermini, it's also a proper Audi through and through. That you can get one without selling several major organs is reason enough.

Committed to providing excellent customer service? Morning people/early birds need not apply!

We have an established team of not quite night owls who need another kindred soul to join them working in the heart of Canock Chase! Hours are 1.45pm till 0.15pm Mon to Thurs and 12.45pm to 9.15pm on Fridays. Unusual? Yes! But you get a lie-in every day and while own transport is essential, free parking is available and you always miss rush hour!

Our agents actively sell our products (don't worry, we promise there's no cold calling) as well as providing after sales support by both phone and email, so you will need to be committed to providing a great all round experience to our customers - it's not all sell sell sell! You will need to be computer literate and have an excellent command of English and be able to work with a close-knit team in both the busy summer months and the dead of winter.

As our customers can be very demanding (and are very quick to point out faults) we are looking for someone who has a good understanding of grammar and can put together a well-written email. So for a chance of an interview you will need to provide a full covering letter!

If you think that you have the skills we need and are sure that the hours suit you then don't miss out, send your C.V. and all important covering letter to careers@mobal.com by 28/02/13.

Deadline for requests for assessments of eligibility for NHS Continuing Healthcare funding for cases during the period 1 April 2011 to 31 March 2012

On 15 March 2012, the Department of Health announced the introduction of deadlines for new cases which require assessment of eligibility for NHS Continuing Healthcare (NHS assessment of eligibility for NHS Continuing Healthcare (NHS CHC) funding.

NHS CHC is care provided over an extended period of time to meet physical or mental health needs that have arisen as result of disability, accident or illness. NHS CHC funding is only provided where an individual has a primary health need and requires long term healthcare, as opposed to social or residential care.

The deadline applies to previously un-assessed pecare, which occurred in the following time period:

Time Period Deadline

1 April 2011 - 31 March 2012 31 March 2013

The deadline for the time period from 1 April 2004 - 31 March 2011 was 30 September 2012 and is now closed. 31 March 2011 was 30 September 2012 and is now closed Individuals should contact Vicky Evans, NHS Staffordshire Continuing Care Department on SouthStaffsCHC@nhs.net or 01889 571381 for further information on how to notify the PCT of a request for assessment of eligibility. This notifica-tion should be given within the deadline above. Some cases may be accepted after the date outlined above if there are exceptional circumstances for doing so.

Saddlers' Smith is manager of month

DEAN SMITH has become the first Walsall boss to be named Manager of the Month in nearly seven years.

The Banks's Stadium chief claimed January's League One award after four wins from five games lifted Saddlers into ninth place.

Saddlers into ninth place.

He beat Swindon's, now former manager, Paolo Di Canio and Yeovil chief Gary Johnson to become the first Walsall manager to win since Richard Money in November, 2006.

Smith said: "I class staying up in my first year as a massive achievement but this is the first time I've been recognised for something. To get manager of the month is a fantastic accolade and I'm really proud of and I'm really proud of that."
